

MIT CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

cis events

Jerusalem Seminar Series Continues Outreach and Education

The Jerusalem Seminar Series, presented by CIS as part of the Jerusalem 2050 Project, concluded in November with a talk by Susan Marks, executive vice president of Search for Common Ground, entitled "Civil Society and Conflict Resolution." Earlier speakers included Diana Abouali, Bedross Der Matossian, Everett Mendelsohn, Anat Biletzki, Bernard Avishai, Kate Rouhana, and Nili Portugali discussing the history, economy, physical structure, and civil society of Jerusalem.

massachusetts institute of technology 77 massachusetts avenue tel 617.253.1000 cambridge, ma 02139-4307 tty 617.258.9344

Thursday, October 30, 2008

Jerusalem Series: Architecture of Jerusalem

Speaker: Nili Portugali, Architect

Time: 4:00p–6:00p

Location: 4-237

Jerusalem Seminar Series

Seminars sponsored by CIS for the Fall 2008 semester focusing on different themes and topics related to Jerusalem. Part of the Jerusalem 2050 project (web.mit.edu/cis/jerusalem2050).

Architect Nili Portugali will speak about architecture and her own work in Jerusalem and on holistic design.

Open to: the general public

Cost: 0.00

Sponsor(s): Center for International Studies, DUSP

For more information, contact:

Amy Spelz
253-2017
aspelz@mit.edu

This event is categorized as: art/architecture / museum, humanities / social sciences, global/international